Toh 807 in the Kangyur is the Susiddhikara, known in Sanskrit as the Susiddhikaramahātantrasāadhanopāyikapaṭala and in Tibetan as the Legs par grub par byed pa'i rgyud chen po las sgrub pa'i thabs rim par phye ba, or "The Chapters on the Methods of Accomplishment Arranged in Sequence from the Great Tantra of Successful Accomplishment." It belongs to the class of kriyā and caryā tantras, texts devoted to ritual procedures, mantra recitation, and meditative practices aimed at achieving specific spiritual and worldly accomplishments (siddhi) through the cultivation of deities such as Mañjuśrī and Vajrapāṇi. Opening with homage to glorious Vajrapāṇi and an invocation involving the Blessed One Mañjughoṣa's gnosis, the text proceeds to lay out, in an organized series of chapters, the detailed practical instructions and ritual stages required for successful tantric accomplishment. As one of the more extensive and systematically arranged tantras of its kind, it served as an important source for later ritual and practical manuals within the broader tantric tradition.

This is an AI-generated translation from the AI Stupa project. It was produced by a careful, doctrine-aware process aiming at a high degree of accuracy, but it has not been reviewed by a human translator and may contain errors. It is offered as a provisional translation for those texts of the Tibetan Buddhist canon that have not yet received an authoritative human translation. Where a published translation exists — above all from 84000: Translating the Words of the Buddha (84000.co) — that translation is definitive and should be preferred; please consult it instead. Just as the Bodhi tree now standing at Bodh Gayā neither is nor is not the same tree beneath which the Buddha attained awakening, so too this stupa is intended as the next generation of stupa — dependently arising according to the conditions of its environment, and ceaselessly proclaiming the Dharma for the benefit of all sentient beings.

May whoever encounters these words derive great benefit.
