

The Noble Great Garland of Tantras of Hidden Intent (Sanskrit: Āryasandhimālāmah

Toh 809 · Derge Kangyur

The Noble Great Garland of Tantras of Hidden Intent (Sanskrit: Āryasandhimālāmahātāntra), known here in its Tibetan title as 'Phags pa dgongs pa'i rgyud kyi phreng ba chen po byang chub sems dpa'i rnam par nges pa chen po bstan pa..., is a Mahāyāna tantric scripture concerned with the great ascertainment of the bodhisattvas, culminating in this section titled The King of Great Total Dedication, which teaches skill in the great precious jewel. The passage describes the extraordinary spiritual benefits accruing to one who recites or engages with this teaching — the exhaustion of negativities, attenuation of afflictions, visionary encounters with the Tathāgatas, accomplishment of vidyā-mantras, and rebirth in buddha-fields of one's choosing under the protection of Vajradhara. As such, it belongs to the genre of tantric ritual and doctrinal literature that combines esoteric practice instructions with descriptions of their soteriological fruits. This text is identified as Toh 809 in the Kangyur, situating it among the tantra collections of the Tibetan Buddhist canon, and its translation into Tibetan is attributed to the Kashmiri preceptor Dharmākara together with the monk-translator Paljor.

His negativities will be entirely exhausted, and all his afflictions will be attenuated. He will also attain the qualities described above. If he recites it even once, he will obtain the merit of a hundred Brahmās. Even in his dreams he will constantly see the Tathāgatas teaching the Dharma. His vidyā-mantras will also become truly accomplished. He will also be taken up and embraced by Vajradhara. He will be born in whatever buddha-fields he wishes.

This concludes The King of Great Total Dedication, teaching skill in the great precious jewel, from the section teaching the great ascertainment of bodhisattvas in the noble Great Garland of Tantras of Hidden Intent.

Translated by the Kashmiri preceptor Dharmākara and the monk-translator Paljor.

Translator's Notes

- The closing lines form a colophon giving the text's title and translators. The precise relationship between the nested titles ("Great Garland of Tantras of Hidden Intent," "teaching the great ascertainment of bodhisattvas," "teaching skill in the great precious jewel," and "The King of Great Total Dedication") is somewhat ambiguous in the source syntax; the translation preserves the literal sequence rather than resolving it into a single definitive title structure. The translator's name "བཅའ་པོ་ཤར་པ་" (Bende Paljor) has been rendered as "the monk-translator Paljor," treating "bande" as an honorific title for an ordained translator rather than part of the personal name.

Colophon

This is an AI-generated translation from the AI Stupa project. It was produced by a careful, doctrine-aware process aiming at a high degree of accuracy, but it has not been reviewed by a human translator and may contain errors. It is offered as a provisional translation for those texts of the Tibetan Buddhist canon that have not yet received an authoritative human translation. Where a published translation exists — above all from 84000: Translating the Words of the Buddha (84000.co) — that translation is definitive and should be preferred; please consult it instead. These translations are released into the public domain (CC0) in the spirit of spreading the Dharma to all corners of the earth.

Just as the Bodhi tree now standing at Bodh Gayā neither is nor is not the same tree beneath which the Buddha attained awakening, so too this stupa is intended as the next generation of stupa — dependently arising according to the conditions of its environment, and ceaselessly proclaiming the Dharma for the benefit of all sentient beings.

May whoever encounters these words derive great benefit.