

Homage to the Three Jewels

Toh 813 · Derge Kangyur

དཀའ་ཁྱོད་མཆོག་གསུམ་ལ་ཕྱག་འཆེལ་ལྟོ

Toh 813 in the Kangyur is a short tantric text belonging to the Secret Mantra collection, centering on a mantra core—here rendered as "vajre ni hum"—identified as a secret essence (guhyagarbha) associated with the arising of four essential mantras, accompanied by an aspirational prayer and verses. Written in Tibetan, the work opens with homage to the Three Jewels before addressing concerns relevant to beings in this world, reflecting the ritual and protective character typical of such mantra compilations. As a Kangyur text, it represents the words attributed to the Buddha or closely allied tantric sources, and it belongs to the broader genre of dharani or mantra texts used for recitation, protection, and spiritual accomplishment. The precise Sanskrit title is not clearly determinable from the available material, though the Tibetan indicates its function as a concise ritual and incantatory work rather than a lengthy philosophical treatise.

Just as the Bodhi tree now standing at Bodh Gayā neither is nor is not the same tree beneath which the Buddha attained awakening, so too this stupa is intended as the next generation of stupa — dependently arising according to the conditions of its environment, and ceaselessly proclaiming the Dharma for the benefit of all sentient beings.

May whoever encounters these words derive great benefit.
