

Recollection of the Name of the Buddha Ratnaśikhin

Ratnaśikhinnāmānusmṛti · Toh 870 · Derge Kangyur

སངས་རྒྱལ་འཕགས་པའི་ཆོ་མཚན་གྱི་ཆོ་མཚན་རྒྱུ་སྒྲུབ་པ།

The Recollection of the Name of the Buddha Ratnaśikhin is a very short dhāraṇī text in the Kangyur, devoted to the buddha Ratnaśikhin, whose name means "Jewel Crest" or "Jewel Topknot." The Tibetan title line begins with a homage to this buddha and gives the spoken formula in transliterated Sanskrit, and the Tibetan title appears to concern recollection at the time of death, though the line is cut off and its full wording cannot be confirmed here. The text consists of a brief homage, a short mantra-like invocation addressed to the tathāgata, arhat, and perfectly awakened one, and a promise of benefit: whoever recalls it at the moment of death will be freed from all the lower realms and will be reborn as a god in the Heaven of the Thirty-Three. It belongs to the genre of dhāraṇī and name-recollection texts, which offer concise protective formulas and the invocation of a buddha's name as a practice for securing a favorable rebirth. It is Toh 870 in the Kangyur, found among the tantra-section texts, where many such short dhāraṇīs are gathered.

Homage to the Buddha Ratnaśikhin.

Namo ratnaśikhine tathāgatāya arhate samyakṣambuddhāya. Tadyathā: ratne ratne ratnaśikhine svāhā.

If one recollects this at the time of death, one will be completely freed from all the lower realms. And after dying and passing on, one will be born as a god in the Heaven of the Thirty-Three.

This completes the Recollection of the Name of the Buddha Ratnaśikhin.

Translator's Notes

- The Buddha's name, literally "Jewel Crest," is the standard Tibetan rendering of Ratnaśikhin, which the mantra itself confirms. The mantra is given in standard Sanskrit form. The Tibetan transliteration has slightly irregular spellings, which I have normalized to "arhate samyakṣambuddhāya."

Colophon

This is an AI-generated translation from the AI Stupa project. It was produced by a careful, doctrine-aware process aiming at a high degree of accuracy, but it has not been reviewed by a human translator and may contain errors. It is offered as a provisional translation for those texts of the Tibetan Buddhist canon that have not yet received an authoritative human translation. Where a published translation exists — above all from 84000: Translating the Words of the Buddha (84000.co) — that translation is definitive and should be preferred; please consult it instead. These translations are released into the public domain (CC0) in the spirit of spreading the Dharma to all corners of the earth.

Just as the Bodhi tree now standing at Bodh Gayā neither is nor is not the same tree beneath which the Buddha attained awakening, so too this stupa is intended as the next generation of stupa — dependently arising according to the conditions of its environment, and ceaselessly proclaiming the Dharma for the benefit of all sentient beings.

May whoever encounters these words derive great benefit.