Homage to the King of Lunar Days, Constellations, and Moments

Toh 1029 · Derge Kangyur

The Dhāraṇī for Accomplishing All Aims is a very short incantation text, known in Tibetan under a title that expresses the same idea of bringing every purpose to fulfillment. After paying homage to the Three Jewels, it honors a buddha called the King of Lunar Days, Constellations, and Moments, a name that evokes the astrological reckoning of auspicious times. It then gives a brief Sanskrit dhāraṇī invoking the constellations and lunar days, followed by a simple rite: anyone about to set out in any direction should recite the formula seven times before departing, and all their aims will be accomplished. The work is Toh 1029 in the Kangyur, where it belongs to the collection of dhāraṇī texts, the short protective and beneficial spells gathered within the tantra section of the canon.

Homage to the Three Jewels.

Homage to the Blessed One, the Tathāgata, the arhat, the perfectly and completely awakened buddha, the King of Lunar Days, Constellations, and Moments.

tadyathā nakṣatre sarva tithī mūrte naśatrani mesamitadhani bhavantu svāhā

Its rite is as follows. Whatever direction one wishes to go in, if one recites this seven times and then sets out, all one's aims will be accomplished.

This completes the Dhāraṇī for Accomplishing All Aims.

Translator's Notes

• The buddha's name is translated from its Tibetan meaning, "King of Lunar Days, Constellations, and Moments." It may reflect a Sanskrit form such as Tithinakṣatramuhūrtarāja. That form is not securely attested, so the translation does not use it.

Colophon

This is an AI-generated translation from the AI Stupa project. It was produced by a careful, doctrine-aware process aiming at a high degree of accuracy, but it has not been reviewed by a human translator and may contain errors. It is offered as a provisional translation for those texts of the Tibetan Buddhist canon that have not yet received an authoritative human translation. Where a published translation exists — above all from 84000: Translating the Words of the Buddha (84000.co) — that translation is definitive and should be preferred; please consult it instead. These translations are released into the public domain (CC0) in the spirit of spreading the Dharma to all corners of the earth.

Just as the Bodhi tree now standing at Bodh Gayā neither is nor is not the same tree beneath which the Buddha attained awakening, so too this stupa is intended as the next generation of stupa — dependently arising according to the conditions of its environment, and ceaselessly proclaiming the Dharma for the benefit of all sentient beings.

May whoever encounters these words derive great benefit.