This text is the Āryāparimitāyurjñāna-hṛdaya-nāma-dhāraṇī, known in English as "The Heart of the Noble Dhāraṇī of Boundless Life and Wisdom" and in Tibetan as 'Phags pa tshe dang ye shes dpag tu med pa'i snying po zhes bya ba'i gzungs. It is a short dhāraṇī text belonging to the tantric literature of the Kangyur, closely related to the longer Aparimitāyus sūtra that precedes it in the source material, and it transmits a condensed mantra formula said to confer the blessings of limitless life and wisdom associated with the Buddha Amitāyus. The passage given marks the close of the preceding Mahāyāna sūtra on limitless life, whose teaching is met with rejoicing and praise by its audience, followed immediately by the title of this dhāraṇī in Sanskrit and Tibetan. As Toh 850 in the Kangyur, it exemplifies the genre of concise ritual dhāraṇīs that distill the essence of longer sūtras into recitable formulas for practical and devotional use.

It was produced by a careful, doctrine-aware process aiming at a high degree of accuracy, but it has not been reviewed by a human translator and may contain errors. It is offered as a provisional translation for those texts of the Tibetan Buddhist canon that have not yet received an authoritative human translation. Where a published translation exists — above all from 84000: Translating the Words of the Buddha (84000.co) — that translation is definitive and should be preferred; please consult it instead. Just as the Bodhi tree now standing at Bodh Gayā neither is nor is not the same tree beneath which the Buddha attained awakening, so too this stupa is intended as the next generation of stupa — dependently arising according to the conditions of its environment, and ceaselessly proclaiming the Dharma for the benefit of all sentient beings.

May whoever encounters these words derive great benefit.
