This text, entitled in Sanskrit the Sarvamaṇḍalasāmānyavidhiguhyatantra and in Tibetan dKyl 'khor thams cad kyi spyi'i cho ga gsang ba'i rgyud, or "The Secret Tantra on the General Rites for All Maṇḍalas," is a tantric ritual text concerned with the shared procedures and practices underlying the construction and use of maṇḍalas in general, rather than any single specific maṇḍala system. Opening with homage to the Omniscient One, it presents itself as a further secret tantra elaborating on maṇḍala rites applicable across various tantric practices. As such, it belongs to the class of tantra literature within the Kangyur, where it is catalogued as Toh 806, reflecting its role as a foundational or supplementary guide to ritual conduct rather than a philosophical treatise or narrative sutra.

It was produced by a careful, doctrine-aware process aiming at a high degree of accuracy, but it has not been reviewed by a human translator and may contain errors. It is offered as a provisional translation for those texts of the Tibetan Buddhist canon that have not yet received an authoritative human translation. Where a published translation exists — above all from 84000: Translating the Words of the Buddha (84000.co) — that translation is definitive and should be preferred; please consult it instead. Just as the Bodhi tree now standing at Bodh Gayā neither is nor is not the same tree beneath which the Buddha attained awakening, so too this stupa is intended as the next generation of stupa — dependently arising according to the conditions of its environment, and ceaselessly proclaiming the Dharma for the benefit of all sentient beings.

May whoever encounters these words derive great benefit.
